

LTS DOES 'DRAGONS' DEN'

Do you have an idea for a computer game that might be the next worldwide smash hit, or do you have an idea for a character that could capture the imagination of game players across the globe?

If so, then this year's LTS does 'Dragons' Den' competition at the Scottish Learning Festival could be just the opportunity for you to showcase your imagination and ideas to a panel of professional experts from the Scottish computer games industry. What we are inviting school pupils to do is to devise a concept for a computer game and pitch it to the Dragons. The time that you will have for your pitch is 10 minutes.

The content of your presentation can take any form that you decide but we suggest five areas that you may like to give consideration to. These are:

- What is the underpinning idea for the game and its game play?
- What is the target audience and appeal of your game?
- What will the game look like?
- What makes your game original?
- How would you market your game?

The competition is open to Scottish school pupils aged 3-18 with a maximum number of four in a team.

Closing date: Friday 11 September

Please visit: <http://ltsblogs.org.uk/consolarium/tag/dragon> for further information.